Charles (Chuck) Romero has been named to serve on the Board of Directors at Midwest Bioethics Center. Romero brings to the Center more than a decade of experience developing and implementing diversity programs and training.

Romero serves various roles in this regard at the University of Kansas Medical Center, where he is permanent chair for the Medical Center's Diversity Advisory Council and co-director for the Office of Cultural Enhancement and Diversity. He is also co-director for Minority Medical Education.

"Working with the Center is a tremendous opportunity to address the various issues related to disparities in health and healthcare," Romero says. "I look forward to making a contribution to this effort."

Romero has developed and implemented diversity programs and training for state and local government agencies, AT&T and Sprint. He will serve a three year term on the Center's board.
